

Joint Operational Necessity of Sensing from and within the Space Environment

Col Edward Fienga

JFCC Space/J5

As a component of Space Situational Awareness, terrestrial weather and the daily space environment are critical factors in JFCC SPACE's ability to help produce and provide timely space effects to geographic combatant commanders. Colonel Fienga will discuss the critical contribution space environment sensors provide to joint space operations and ultimately, to joint military operations.